JM Product Offering Changes to Custom Lengths on TPO and EPDM

Demand for commercial roofing products continues to be strong in 2022 while supply chain, logistic and personnel challenges linger. One of our priorities in this environment is to ensure reliable service and supply of products to support this demand. This includes optimizing manufacturing opportunities for products in highest demand. As part of this effort, we will be temporarily discontinuing custom length TPO and EPDM membranes. This will enable JM to focus on material output to maximize the product SKUs in higher demand.

Effective immediately, we are not accepting any new orders for custom length TPO and EPDM membranes. All existing orders with a provided delivery window after August 31, 2022, cannot be fulfilled. Your Account Specialist will work with you to convert these existing orders to standard length materials. JM is committed to supporting in-progress projects which require custom lengths; please work with your Account Specialist to identify necessary quantities for project completion.

JM will continue to offer the following extended length SKUs for both TPO and EPDM.
