Johns Manville Corporate Strength and Industry Leadership

Johns Manville, a Berkshire Hathaway (NYSE: BRK.A; BRK.B) company, is a leading manufacturer of premium-quality building and mechanical insulation, commercial roofing systems, glass fibers and nonwoven materials for commercial, industrial and residential applications. Johns Manville began making and selling products in 1858 and has been part of Berkshire Hathaway since 2001.

National Account Manager Single Point of Contact

A dedicated Building Constructor Services Account Manager serves to streamline access, communication and service across the entire JM Roofing Systems Group. The role is designed to provide an enhanced level of customer satisfaction, and with it, our goal is to develop a long-term, mutually beneficial business relationship.

Complete Line of Quality Low-Slope Roofing Products and Systems

JM's Roofing Systems Group is a leading North American supplier of complete commercial roofing solutions for every aspect of the roof. This includes all major single ply technologies including TPO, PVC and EPDM, as well as, asphalt-based Built-Up Roofing (BUR) and Modified Bitumen (APP and SBS) systems. As a full line supplier of membranes, roof insulation, cover boards, fasteners and adhesives, we engineer our components to work together in a system to achieve the highest level of long-term performance.

Nationwide Network of Professional Roofing Contractors

The correct installation of high-quality JM roofing products is critical to achieving the maximum performance of our roofing systems. We selectively work with professional roofing contractors who are at the forefront of their business and demonstrate a high degree of technical ability, management expertise and financial stability. JM's high standard of commitment and excellence is reflected in our nationwide network of certified best-in-class Peak Advantage® Contractors.

Expert Specifier, Technical and Field Services Support

Today's commercial roofs are more sophisticated than ever and require considerable technical and industry knowledge—making the right decision at the right time becomes critical. We consider the roof a complete system and feature diverse and comprehensive support such as our Specifier, Technical and Field Services teams to provide insight and guidance throughout the pre-construction, construction and post-construction phases.
